

PANELIST BIO

CHRISTIE TATMAN-STROH

Mrs. Christie Tatman-Stroh is the Manager of Training, Development, and Coaching in the Office of Human Resources at Cuyahoga Community College.

She has participated in several leadership development programs, and is an instructor in: Emotional Intelligence, Leading Teams, Effective Communications, Conflict Resolution, SMART Goals, and Feedback through Coaching.

Prior to coming to Cuyahoga Community College, Christie served as the Director of Property Management at the Emerald Development and Economic Network. She led a management team across functional areas including associate development, training, succession planning, and staffing. She is also experienced in continuous improvement methodologies, change management and the implementation of related organizational development initiatives. Her experience in the nonprofit sector also includes Affordable Housing, Housing First Model, Mental Health Disabilities, Homelessness and Poverty.

Christie holds a Masters in Nonprofit Administration and Leadership from Cleveland State University, a Bachelor in Social Work from Capital University, a Bachelor of Specialized Studies with a concentration in Woman Studies from Ohio University and a Certificate of Executive Coaching from Case Western University. She is a certified facilitator for the following programs: Strength Based Leadership, Crucial Conversations, InsideOut Coaching, Emotional Intelligence and DDI material.